Analysis: Key Takeaways

Overall discussion volume has increased by around 35%. Sentiment against impeachment is currently winning the online conversation (+ 1% to 31%) while sentiment in favor continues to trend downwards (- 6% to 22%). This can in part be explained by Republican influencers who are amplifying the leadership's views. However this isn't just about message dissemination and discipline. The data shows that everyday Trump supporters are at present more angry, passionate, and energized than others online.

The volume of pro impeachment discussion has remained constant even though the shift in the discussion is the result of a ramped up Trump defense. Notably, it appears that the formal vote to open an impeachment inquiry generated little discussion and did little to change the main anti-impeachment assertion that the process is corrupt. Whether or not public, widely covered hearings shift this dynamic will be worth watching.

Pro Impeachment

The content of pro impeachment discussion has remained largely the same. These people are adamant that Trump be impeached and thrown out of office. They are resolute in their view that the impeachment process is legal and is being conducted fairly, despite interference by the GOP and obstruction from the White House.

Anti Impeachment

- For Trump supporters, the impeachment proceedings are clearly corrupt. To them, Democrats wanted to impeach Trump from the day of his inauguration and are willing to use any means possible to make this happen. They feel strongly that the proceedings are illegal and describe them as a hoax, fake, a sham and a coup which would not be happening if the Democrats felt they could beat Trump in 2020. They suggest that proceedings also distract law makers from the real issues which could help the lives of Americans.
- Trump defenders are also continuing to define their villains. While mention of Adam Schiff are largely absent in pro-impeachment discussion, he figures prominently in discussion among Trump defenders. The attacks on what is portrayed as a corrupt process and on Chairman Schiff and Speaker Pelosi form a 1-2 punch on this side of the debate (as opposed to impeachment supporters who focus almost exclusively on Trump to the exclusion of process or other personalities).

Sample Posts

Pro Impeachment

• The impeachment process is not about undoing the results of 2016. It's about protecting the integrity of 2020.

Seriously, can anyone tell me why Republicans are so keen on revealing the name of the whistleblower? I don't get it. All witnesses have stated there was a Quid Pro Quo. Who cares about the whistleblower? Republicans are 5 steps behind in this impeachment. Give it up rhinos.

• They did. And you're guilty. Admit it. Do the world a favor. Resign before they impeach you.

f So the fact that Trump is telling witnesses they can not testify makes impeachment more likely, not less likely.

Anti Impeachment

- f this impeachment inquiry is about getting to the truth, let's have the truth. Make the Bidens testify.
- P You pushed the disgusting Russia collusion hoax for two years. There are NO grounds for impeachment.

F Historically, the House votes to authorize an impeachment inquiry BEFORE beginning investigations - not this time. Democrats launched their partisan pursuit without authorization from the House. Pelosi & Schiff are now asking Members to codify this sham a little too late set Abusive Pelosi-Schiff impeachment has zero due process, is lawless, unconstitutional and born of corruption

P Make no mistake about it ... If Democrats thought they had a candidate who could beat Trump in 2020 - they'd never be going through with this phony impeachment hoax. I bet their internal polls are a disaster.

Methodology

This analysis is based on collected, publicly available, online data geo-located to rural populations in the six states from October 28 – November 11, 2019 related to President Trump's impeachment. In total, 12,000 posts from 1,581 authors were collected across the six states.

Randomized, representative samples of these conversations were analyzed after removing shares, retweets, repetition, media, and influencers from the dataset to focus solely on the views of local citizens. These conversations were then scored – positive, negative, or neutral – from the perspective of Trump.
